WHAT ARE MPAs?

In 2012, California became a leader in ocean protection by completing the nation's first statewide network of Marine Protected Areas (MPAs), which restrict or prohibit consumptive activities like fishing and other harvesting of marine life. Just as parks on land protect wildlife and special habitats for people to visit and enjoy, these underwater parks preserve California's stunning marine ecosystems for future generations.

California's MPAs are amazing places to visit! Swimming, kayaking, diving, snorkeling, surfing, tidepooling and more — they offer something for everyone.
